RETURNING BELLES OF CAPITAL SOCIETY.

THE cool weather of the past week has created an exodus from the Northern mountain resorts. Unexpected arrivals at home are coming every day, and houses which are usually closed until the middle of October are showing every indication of early occupancy. Even the streets and thoroughfares have had an awakening, and smart equipages and autos not seen for many months have appeared again as harbingers of the gay season.

Mrs. Taft's absence from the White House until the end of next month, of course, will make considerable difference in the social affairs of the circle of which the White House is the pivot. She expects to go down to New York about October 15 and spend a fortnight with the President's brother's family, coming on to Washington just about the time the President returns from the West.

It is too early to know much of debutantes, but indications point to a very interesting group this season. There are several scheduled in the diplomatic corps, as yet none in the cabinet circle, a large group in the army and navy circle, and no end of them in the resident set. The debutante in all her glory will not come upon the social scene until December 1.

Quite an important feature of the forthcoming season will be the introduction of the new members of the diplomatic corps, for there are four new Ambassadors, a number of Ministers, and, as is usual, innumerable secretaries. One of the four Ambassadors is a bachelor, but in spite of it he has leased the most pretentious and spacious house of them all. This is the Brazilian Ambassador, who has succeeded the late Senor Nalucio. He is now in Europe on a vacation. The new Mexican Ambassador, Senor Crespo, is also in Europe, where he joined his family immediately after presenting his credentials. His family will return here with him next month. The new Russian Ambassador, M. Bakmeteff, will arrive about November 1. Mme. Bakmeteff was formerly Miss Mary Beale, daughter of Gen. Beale, of this city. She is a sister of Mrs. John R. McLean and of Truxton Beale, who was formerly in the diplomatic service of the United States, and who returned to his old home last winter to spend the season and present his bride to his old friends. M. and Mme. Bakmeteff were married while the former was a secretary of the Russian Legation.

It will be but a short time before the new Minister from Belgium and Mme. Haventh will come back to Washington to take possession of the legation, where M. Haventh was secretary when his engagement to Miss Fendick was announced. M. Haventh received his promotion as Minister to Persia, at the time of the marriage, and they departed at once for that post.
